

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY & AEGIR-MARINE

AEGIR-Marine firmly believes in social responsibility. We're not alone in this world that we borrow from our children.

We think a civilisation is defined by the way we take care of each other and our environment. Therefore, we donate part of our annual profits to charity.

MERCY SHIPS

Of course we could always consider a project that is somewhat different, like the work we did on the hospital ship Africa Mercy. We supported this very special project by donating parts and reducing our service rates. We also approached other parties to join in and also our staff donated many hours of their leave.

TWO OF OUR PROJECTS:

- Building a school in Gambia.
- Repair and maintenance work on the Africa Mercy.

OUR CSR CRITERIA

The money AEGIR earmarks for charity donations is managed by our CSR committee that is composed entirely of staff members. They use the following criteria to decide how the money is allocated. A project should:

A project should...

- Involve young people.
- Have a start and an end.
- Be open to more involvement.
- Provide a better future.
- Be collaborative (the receiving partner must join in too).
